

Which CTET offerings and resources are right for you?

CTET offers workshops, online tutorials and a drop-in service, STUDIO, to help you to:

- navigate your role as an instructor at Royal Roads University and understand the unique Learning and Teaching Model of this university.
- teach effectively, using the tools and technologies of our online-and-blended approach to course delivery.
- work with CTET's learning designers and technologists, to develop your course content, learning activities, and assessment plan, that fits within the unique environment of our applied, team-based and online learning environment.

How can get help?	Orientation to Teaching and Course Design (self-study)	Moodle: Getting Around (online, F2F and self- study)	Moodle: Editing and Enhancing (online, F2F and self-study)	ISW - Instructional Skills Workshop (F2F)	STUDIO (one-on-one tutoring via phone or drop-in)	Facilitating Learning Online (FLO): Fundamentals	Blackboard Collaborate (web conferencing)	CTET Website	Intercultural Foundations for Education
What do I need or want to learn?
Overview of RRU and the Learning and Teaching Model	✓			✓				✓
Operate in Moodle(use course)		✓			✓
Design Learning Opportunities			✓	✓ In depth	✓	✓ In depth
Edit Moodle course			✓		✓
Effective Teaching Basics	✓			✓ In depth		✓ In depth		✓

Teach in Moodle (teach course)						✓
Teach with web conferencing					✓		✓ Levels 1&2 (self- study) Level 3 (online sessions)
Troubleshooting (course editing, teaching)					✓
Learning Technology Overview	✓				✓			✓
Managing RRU email, using computer					CS Help Desk
Intercultural Understanding									✓

All of the above are free to RRU Faculty and Staff.

If you have any questions about which offering will meet your needs, please contact CTET's Faculty Support Associate, Kyla Beattie (kyla.beattie@royalroads.ca), 250-391-2600 ext. 4532